Overview

Organised by the Hong Kong Young Industrialists Council (HKYIC), the Hong Kong Awards for Industries: Upgrading and Transformation recognises industrial enterprises that have achieved sustainable development and market expansion through effective transformation of their core businesses. As trendsetters in the industrial sector, entrants should be able to clearly define the scope and direction of their upgrading and transformation initiatives, formulate a viable overall plan, implement it effectively, make timely adjustments, and attain phased accomplishments. HKYIC's mission is to promote the sustainable development of industry. This Award is established to enhance the competitiveness of Hong Kong enterprises, affirm the importance of upgrading and transformation to the industrial sector and Hong Kong's economy, and raise awareness of industrial development within the industry and the wider community. Furthermore, by promoting upgrading and transformation among enterprises, the Award aims to further leverage Hong Kong's advantages—including innovative thinking, international perspective, and management capabilities—while fully exercising foresight and flexibility to inherit and foster leadership in the industrial sector. At the same time, the Award seeks to inspire positive energy in the community, joining hands with the industry to highlight the vital role of the real economy in enhancing Hong Kong's overall competitiveness, and jointly promoting the long-term and comprehensive development of Hong Kong's industry and economy.

Organiser

The Hong Kong Young Industrialists Council (YIC) was officially registered in 1992. Most of the members are the awardees of the annual “Young Industrialist Awards of Hong Kong”. HKYIC has been dedicating its efforts to unite the leaders in the industry so as to improve technological achievements and the quality of industrial products in Hong Kong. HKYIC also promotes Hong Kong’s industrial development in order to help the industry establish an international status by providing a multiplatform and cross-industrial exchange opportunity for members. HKYIC constantly participates in and makes recommendations in the meetings conducted by the HKSAR Government, community bodies, professional associations, and industrial and commercial organisations for promoting the well-being of Hong Kong industry. From time to time, HKYIC organizes training courses and research activities to help members to increase the effectiveness of human resources development. At present, HKYIC has a membership of over 150 from different industries, namely, electronics, electrical appliances, machinery, plastics, metal, chemical, textiles, clothing, apparel, jewelry, watches, furniture, glasses, toys, food, telecommunications and information technologies, environment industry, health care products, paper, printing, etc. Collectively, our members' enterprises employ an estimated 1 million people in Hong Kong and the mainland, with a total annual output value exceeding HK$450 billion. Among them, more than 78 are listed companies.

Objective

- To encourage and recognise enterprises that have proactively reformed their core business through Upgrading and Transformation programmes to adapt to the ever-changing market and business environment, thereby continuously enhancing the competitiveness of Hong Kong enterprises.
- To affirm the importance of Upgrading and Transformation to the industrial sector as well as Hong Kong’s economy.
